Fame is a can of worms I haven't really had to contend with.

~Patty Griffin

Most everything means nothing, except some things that mean everything.

~Patty Griffin

You must always know how long to stay; and when to go.

~Patty Griffin

I think there are times when a song can be a spiritual experience - just making music, in general, is pretty much that.

~Patty Griffin

Most people like the sad songs. Some of the oldest songs known to man are sad. Listening to a voice singing something sad is a really great way to help you to feel sad when you need to.

~Patty Griffin

I grew up as a Catholic, and there was so much that was beautiful there, and also so much that was troubling. The whole patriarchal thing, the whole male-dominated approach, really bothered me.

~Patty Griffin

It's occurred to me I need to laugh at myself more and that I don't need to be some sad folk singer all the time. I don't want to be the queen of pain.

~Patty Griffin

I think listeners are hungry to hear quality.

~Patty Griffin

I don't necessarily buy any key to the future of happiness, but I need a little place in the sun sometimes or I think I will die.

~Patty Griffin

Often I have to move my body in a certain way, like exercising, to begin to get into the right rhythm for writing a song.

~Patty Griffin

But darling, I wish you well
On your way to the wishing well

~Patty Griffin

Everyone is tortured. Do you know anyone who isn't?

~Patty Griffin

Studios are designed to pull out all of that beautiful ambience you get from singing in a room, and then the engineer puts it back in digitally or through whatever machinery you've got.
