If time is my vessel, then learning to love might be my way back to sea

~Paul Banks

Everyone is broken-hearted except for the drastically unimaginative

~Paul Banks

In an artistic and spiritual sense I'm really not that concerned about what happens after the album is done.

~Paul Banks

You can't just imitate and keep coming up with ideas. You have to be tapping into something that's pure and unconscious in yourself or you'll have no career.

~Paul Banks

Sometimes you learn about the personality of your favorite artist, and you like their art a little less, because it doesn't jibe with what you had envisioned.

~Paul Banks

That's for non-musicians to say: "I only listen to this or that type of music." I think musicians love all music, or at least that's my case.

~Paul Banks

I perceive everything to be constantly subjective and strange. My version of truth in what I express, it feels like that opaque quality that you're talking about. It's just me being legitimate.

~Paul Banks

The idea of starting a band because of Nirvana and thereby trying to sound like Nirvana is totally not the case.

~Paul Banks

Jeffrey Lewis sings as though absurdity were truth, and truth absurdity.

And I think I agree with him.

~Paul Banks

I never wanted to start a band to sound like Nirvana.

~Paul Banks

I got the chess bug when I was finishing high school, we were doing chess tournaments at my house. I never got to a very high level.
