I was raised by the Christian Brothers, who believe in that, fortunately. They were, to me, the most rebellious arm of the Catholic Church - and one of the most liberal and forward thinking.

~Paul Kantner

Compared to what they were, rock concerts now are like business meetings.

~Paul Kantner

San Francisco is 49 square miles surrounded by reality.

~Paul Kantner

At first I was iridescent, then I became transparent, finally I was absent

~Paul Kantner

If you can remember anything about the sixties, you weren't really there.

~Paul Kantner

I think most non-Christians who try to be good people are probably better Christians than Christians.

~Paul Kantner

You can't plan for the future, because some guy's going to land in a spaceship with three heads and a big beak and take over everything.

~Paul Kantner

Correcting it, I don't know; just shedding the light of day on it is a first major step, being one of the earliest generations not to just accept the words.

~Paul Kantner

You couldn't have fed the '50s into a computer and come out with the '60s.

~Paul Kantner

The '80s seem a real positive force. The '70s were deadening, in a lot of ways.

~Paul Kantner

You can't just sit around and make protest albums all your life; eventually it comes to the point where you have to do something.

~Paul Kantner

The starship thing is really political action and reaction, the natural outgrowth of Volunteers.

~Paul Kantner

There's that thing about the '80s, the '40s and the '60s, and the '30s, the '50s and the '70s. Something about those odd decades in this century that weren't too pleasant.

~Paul Kantner

Maintain yourself and everything maintains itself around you.

~Paul Kantner

It's a lot of random situations that combine in a certain volatile form and create a bigger-than-the-whole situation that nobody could have predicted.

~Paul Kantner

I believe the Rolling Stones wanted to play in Golden Gate Park.

~Paul Kantner

The studio scene in California is sort of ridiculous anyway.

~Paul Kantner

Life is change, how it differs from the rocks.
