We say we love flowers, yet we pluck them. We say we love trees, yet we cut them down. And people still wonder why some are afraid when told they are loved.

~Paul Morley

Pop music is not just a clumsy mass fanaticism, connected to a deceitful enchantment totally lacking in moral rigour.

~Paul Morley

The corporations have all their marketing tools, but it's so much better to go in and find out what's going on and what people are thinking.

~Paul Morley

All change begins with someone having a thought.

~Paul Morley

Music is careful attention paid to ongoing experience.

~Paul Morley

Essentially the soul of the planet is being controlled by corporations.

~Paul Morley

I think the internet and the web is just like a big consciousness of the planet, a big brain of the planet.

~Paul Morley

The remix culture became very much controlled by the corporate world, it's a marketing tool mostly, to create mixes for different genres. So it's very soul-less in a way.

~Paul Morley

There's endless possibilities to taking music into the future by using music that actually was 100 years old.

~Paul Morley

Pop music can play a large part in the way numerous young people determine their right to desire and their need to question.

~Paul Morley

There's different ways of presenting a pop group to the world. It doesn't have to be the same old poses.

~Paul Morley

Pop music - what used to be known as rock music, a loud novelty - can be something more than a pointless, artificial diversion.

~Paul Morley

Through pop music ideas, energies and resources can emerge that can help the audience release themselves from the unrelieving confinements of environment.

~Paul Morley

I always thought that pop groups were going to be made up in the 21st century. It wouldn't be four musicians, as such. Especially in the online world, with the worlds that are opening up.
