We cannot choose between [economic] growth and sustainability - we must have both

~Paul Polman

If we achieve our sustainability targets and no one else follows, we will have failed.

~Paul Polman

Leadership is not just about giving energy ... it's unleashing other people's energy.

~Paul Polman

This world is changing enormously. In any position in a company you need to work very hard on learning new skills every day, but you also need to unlearn some of the old skills from the past.

~Paul Polman

It is unacceptable that more than 1 billion people are hungry every day while another billion are obese.

~Paul Polman

Unless we change direction, models show that the profit of the entire consumer goods sector could be wiped out by 2050.

~Paul Polman

When I interview people, I look at their values. I always say that the best chance of success is if the individual's values are aligned with the corporate values.

~Paul Polman

Provocative and challenging The Social License makes a compelling case for why companies must look to increase their positive social impact as an integral part of their core business strategies.

~Paul Polman

The world we want is an enormous responsibility.

~Paul Polman

We put a gender lens on our whole value chain.
