I wish I'd known that one day the geek would inherit the Earth.

~Peter Capaldi

Keep going and don't give up. You're doing wonderfully. You'll know how to fly this thing eventually.

~Peter Capaldi

I suppose I just like being arty. That's all. Arty.

~Peter Capaldi

I'd say, don't listen to what anyone says: you're good. Go put your anorak on. Get your thick bottle-top specs. Draw your little cartoons and your comics and keep writing to the BBC.

~Peter Capaldi

I love people where, at the end of the day, they'll pick up a paintbrush and paint clouds. They can physically make things.

~Peter Capaldi

There is no such thing as too much swearing. Swearing is just a piece of linguistic mechanics. The words in-between are the clever ones.

~Peter Capaldi

I found American actors quite scary because they're brilliant actors and brilliantly funny, and they never stopped once you wound them up... off they went and they just deliver fantastic stuff.

~Peter Capaldi

I'm not an extravagant man. The fact that I can have a coffee out whenever I want still makes me feel grateful.

~Peter Capaldi

Every viewer who ever turned on Doctor Who has taken him into his heart. He belongs to all of us.

~Peter Capaldi

The older I get, the more I think lightness of touch is an incredibly difficult thing to do.

~Peter Capaldi

A girl once came to my beery flat in Kensal Green, opened the blinds and cooked me breakfast. I married her.

~Peter Capaldi

My family has to be very patient living with me, if you're playing a part that's not you. You have to get it right.

~Peter Capaldi

'Doctor Who' belongs to all of us. Everybody makes 'Doctor Who.'

~Peter Capaldi

I haven't played Doctor Who since I was 9 on the playground.

~Peter Capaldi

It's weathered many a storm, but the British film industry is, thankfully, still afloat.

~Peter Capaldi

I think that people like the idea that fans are sort of slightly eccentric and strange, but generally I've just found them very creative and warm and cheerful.

~Peter Capaldi

I'm pretty good for an old geek.

~Peter Capaldi

A little showbiz never hurt anyone.

~Peter Capaldi

Real heroes are all around us and uncelebrated.

~Peter Capaldi

I'm a huge fan of The Sopranos, and suddenly, you find yourself going one-to-one with this guy who you've been watching for years, watching every flicker in his eye and every detail on his face.

~Peter Capaldi

I'm sure if Shakespeare were alive today, he'd be doing classic guitar solos on YouTube.

~Peter Capaldi

I hate restaurants that play music. You come out for a quiet meal, and you're supposed to put up with all this booming. Why? It's madness!

~Peter Capaldi

When I first came to London, I loved hanging around in cafes, smoking, scribbling, dreaming. It was life-affirming and fun.

~Peter Capaldi

If you actually have to engage with somebody who's superior to you and actually battle with them, struggle with them, I think it's more interesting, and funnier for the audience.

~Peter Capaldi

I'm so lucky to have worked with Burt Lancaster, who I remember was one of the first people I'd heard swearing in a really interesting way.

~Peter Capaldi

We had our British background of traditional theatre behind us.

~Peter Capaldi

I can't imagine I'll be the new George Clooney. That's not really in the cards.

~Peter Capaldi

Chris Addison is a stand-up comic, but his ability to act is extraordinary, to be so natural, I've taken 25 years just getting to that level.
