Until you become a parent, you can't begin to discover your capacity for strength, love and fatigue.

~Peter Gallagher

My eyebrows make a more profound impact on [other] people than they do on me... I just let 'em grow.

~Peter Gallagher

There have been makeup artists who've asked if my eyebrows are real.

~Peter Gallagher

If you are sure that you are about to fail, then this strange and serene calmness can come over you or the most abject fear and panic and feeling of helplessness.

~Peter Gallagher

My family were broadminded enough to support me when I wanted to pursue a life in the theatre.

~Peter Gallagher

To stay on the map, you've got to keep showing up.

~Peter Gallagher

I love playing a dad. It's hard to find family dramas that are genuinely funny.

~Peter Gallagher

I was about to get a degree in economics when I accepted that I'd be a lousy businessman, and if I didn't give acting a try I'd regret it for the rest of my life.

~Peter Gallagher

In an attempt to amuse my friends and family, I would do impressions of Dean Martin, singing Everybody Loves Somebody. I secretly really enjoyed singing the song.

~Peter Gallagher

Never underestimate a parent's ability to mortify his child.

~Peter Gallagher

I made my Broadway debut in the revival of Hair and followed it up with the bus and truck tour of Grease.

~Peter Gallagher

Around 5th and 6th grade I thought Dean Martin was the coolest guy in the world; he was a great singer, had his own television show and acted in movies.

~Peter Gallagher

I always go back to theatre. It's probably where I'll draw my last breath.

~Peter Gallagher

Whether it's on top of a phone booth or a $200 million soundstage, it's about stories.

~Peter Gallagher

Through every moment on stage for the first time, I felt like I was finally right where I belonged.

~Peter Gallagher

It's nice when you can tell stories that brush up against the world we live in.

~Peter Gallagher

Unless you're one of the five billionaires out there who don't have to worry about anything, every aspect of everything is stressful, no matter what your job is.

~Peter Gallagher

We're human, so you're never happy with what you have.

~Peter Gallagher

You can only be stupid when you're young.

~Peter Gallagher

I was probably 11 by the time I saw a movie.

~Peter Gallagher
