Isn't art about breaking rules, about challenging existing systems, isn't it about discovering meaning in things or situations before others see anything in them??

~Peter Lindbergh

The woman is always more important than the clothes.

~Peter Lindbergh

The discussion about whether photography is or isn't art is dated and of no interest. Your work makes you an artist, not your title.

~Peter Lindbergh

I didn't take inspiration from other photographers, which in a way helped to find my own images.

~Peter Lindbergh

Now people ask whether photography is art, but I think the question is of absolutely no interest.

~Peter Lindbergh

Inspired by words you have to create images to tell the story, while it's much more difficult to find your own images with a film for inspiration, because someone has already done it for you.
