~Pharoahe Monch

I have a dream: One day we will get to the promised land. Then the president will be me, The government will be Shabaam, Mos and Kweli...that's it! All wackness is now banned.

~Pharoahe Monch

Radio makes it appear like you can get some sounds in a laptop and be the next dude. Those careers don't really last.

~Pharoahe Monch

Love and hate, black and white, Right or wrong, who is right? Some smoke joints to anoint their brain To the vanishing point...so they won't go insane.

~Pharoahe Monch

You've rarely got an artist that's not being chauffeured into the business by some huge-ass names.

~Pharoahe Monch

It mattered what someone did to allow you to have the forum to do what you're doing.

~Pharoahe Monch

Couldn't you see me and you stretched out in a bikini on the beach in Tahiti? See, me, I'm very selective even though I could be greedy; My main objective is to write our names together in graffiti.

~Pharoahe Monch

Truth had me up against the ropes And semi-conscious without no boxing skills.

~Pharoahe Monch

There needs to be someone who can lead you in the right direction.

~Pharoahe Monch

His momma said, Donovan why are you, on the corner of linden and guy R. Brewer?

~Pharoahe Monch

There are situations where I'm uncomfortable saying, "I'm a hip-hop artist." In some circles, the response is like, "Oh, OK, so... you have whores and your ties are shiny?"

~Pharoahe Monch

Once I slapped a rapper with mace, Then I spit acid in his face, after he rinsed his eyes, no wait... I actually grew five times my size, grabbed Ma$e by the thigh and slapped a rapper with him.

~Pharoahe Monch

Kids don't even realize what they're up against.

~Pharoahe Monch

Having the savvy to know what you want to say, how you want to say it, and what music you want to say it over comes with time spent and wisdom gained in a music career.

~Pharoahe Monch

The last batter to hit, blast shattered your hip, Smash any splitter or fastball-that'll be it.

~Pharoahe Monch

New York City gritty committee pity the fool that act shitty in the midst of the calm, the witty.

~Pharoahe Monch

The stuff I'm working on is quite dense. I'm seeing every four bars as a scene in a film.

~Pharoahe Monch

I'm doing what's in my heart at the time.

~Pharoahe Monch

You feel pressured to do what you think the public wants, when in actuality the sales aren't reflecting what the radio is doing. Not in the least bit!

~Pharoahe Monch

You have to understand the vehicle, the form that allows you to do what you do, and why that is.

~Pharoahe Monch

Unless somebody who's already eleven thousand times platinum is like, "We're ushering this project in," it's not really gonna pop commercially.

~Pharoahe Monch

The battle thing is very important in hip-hop, but at the same time, I want to sit down and have a beer and listen to Rakim.

~Pharoahe Monch

My mic is a Magnum. See me and this chick, we go back like Cro-Magnon. Man...we did it in the back of your Magnum; I said, 'Put them Lifestyles back, give me the Magnums.'

~Pharoahe Monch

I mostly write to music, even though I know I sound free-form a lot. Then there are times when I'll have a concept and hold on to it until I come across the right music that makes a marriage.
