There is no choice between being kind to others, and being kind to ourselves. It is the same thing.

~Piero Ferrucci

Eliminate something superfluous from your life. Break a habit. Do something that makes you feel insecure.

~Piero Ferrucci

Giving kindness does as much good as receiving it...Kind people are healthier and live longer.

~Piero Ferrucci

If kindness has falseness at its base, it is no longer kindness. It is labored courtesy.

~Piero Ferrucci

Being kind is the simplest way to become who we really are.

~Piero Ferrucci

If we could be sure of everyone and everything, trust would have no value

~Piero Ferrucci

It's all really very simple. You don't have to choose between being kind to yourself and others. It's one and the same.

~Piero Ferrucci

We are used to thinking in terms of what we can teach our children. Maybe we need to ask ourselves what we may learn from them.

~Piero Ferrucci

We can proceed according to the planned itinerary, strenuously trying to make life conform to our needs, or we can adapt to whatever we meet and flow without effort.

~Piero Ferrucci

Generosity is, by definition, disinterested.

~Piero Ferrucci

The transition from rebellion to acceptance has an extremely important consequence. . . in which we start seeing life as a training school, to teach us what we need to learn.
