I kind of think we have too many guns in this country.

~Piers Morgan

Don't chase women, they will chase you. They are like horses in a pasture: if you don't go drooling over her, she is going to want to know why.

~Piers Morgan

I think that variety is the key to our success. It is what makes us [artists] different, and long may that continue.

~Piers Morgan

I want to interview the most important people in the world and have everyone in America the next day going, 'Did you see that?'

~Piers Morgan

There is a type of snobbish, pompous journalist who thinks that the only news that has any validity is war, famine, pestilence or politics. I don't come from that school.

~Piers Morgan

What is it about this ideological dream of the right to bear arms that overrides any other rights, I mean the rights to not have your children killed at school?

~Piers Morgan

That amazing moment when your crush has a crush on you. It's a wonderful feeling knowing that the person who you want to be in a relationship with likes or loves you back.

~Piers Morgan

I'd swap everything I've done in my miserable little life to bat like Virender Sehwag

~Piers Morgan

Bill O'Reilly is like a comfortable pair of shimmeringly angry slippers, but you know every night what you're going to get.

~Piers Morgan

Can we rename [Taylor Swift] Pinocchio Swift?

~Piers Morgan

There is a certain advantage to the British accent. I do notice that Americans love it; they think the we Brits are smarter than perhaps we are.

~Piers Morgan

Singers always have an advantage. You know, everyone can connect to a song in a way that they cannot do to a basketball act or a magician act or whatever.

~Piers Morgan

All the heat should come my way

~Piers Morgan

There are many different ways of categorizing news. It doesn't have to be just war and famine and serious politics.

~Piers Morgan

History is littered with many, many talented young people who got a break damaged in the end by fame and other things when they were young and took it.
