The whole imposing edifice of modern medicine is like the celebrated tower of Pisa - slightly off balance.

~Prince Charles

All the time I feel I must justify my existence.

~Prince Charles

You have to give this much to the Luftwaffe: when it knocked down our buildings it did not replace them with anything more offensive than rubble. We did that.

~Prince Charles

I sometimes wonder if two thirds of the globe is covered in red carpet.

~Prince Charles

Christianity was literally born in the Middle East, and we must not forget our Middle Eastern brothers and sisters in Christ.

~Prince Charles

Do you seriously expect me to be the first Prince of Wales in history not to have a mistress?

~Prince Charles

A large number of us have developed a feeling that architects tend to design houses for the approval of fellow architects and critics, not for the tenants.

~Prince Charles

Father told me that if I ever met a lady in a dress like yours, I must look her straight in the eyes.

~Prince Charles

Conservation must become before recreation.

~Prince Charles

To get the best results you must talk to your vegetables.

~Prince Charles

All I'm saying is that there is a price to be paid at the sharp end.. environmentally and everywhere else.. for the food that is produced in a particular way.

~Prince Charles

I learned the way a monkey learns - by watching its parents.

~Prince Charles

There's nothing like a jolly good disaster to get people to start doing something.

~Prince Charles

Why can't we have those curves and arches that express feeling in design? What is wrong with them? Why has everything got to be vertical, straight, unbending, only at right angles - and functional?

~Prince Charles

There is no doubt that we live in an age of unprecedented, and sometimes terrifying, technological advance where the speed of advance so often outstrips the necessary ethical considerations.

~Prince Charles

Humility is to make a right estimate of one's self. It is no humility for a man to think less of himself than he ought, though it might rather puzzle him to do that.

~Prince Charles

Something as curious as the monarchy won't survive unless you take account of people's attitudes. After all, if people don't want it, they won't have it.

~Prince Charles

Any difficulties which the world faces today will be as nothing compared to the full effects which global warming will have on the world-wide economy.

~Prince Charles

It is frightening how dependent on drugs we are all becoming and how easy it is for doctors to prescribe them as the universal panacea for our ills.

~Prince Charles

One of the main reasons for the conflict in Syria, and the terrorism that it's spawned, is climate change and drought.

~Prince Charles

The less people know about what is really going on, the easier it is to wield power and authority.

~Prince Charles

As technology advances at an alarming pace, the place of drawing remains as valid as ever in the creation of art and architecture.

~Prince Charles

The price of apparently cheap food is costing nothing less than the Earth!

~Prince Charles

This was one of those special occasions when I could actually feel the inner appreciation of the beauty of the moment passing like an electric current through the brush in my hand.

~Prince Charles

I find myself born into this particular position. I'm determined to make the most of it. And to do whatever I can to help. And I hope I leave things behind a little bit better than I found them.

~Prince Charles

Be neither too remote nor too familiar.

~Prince Charles

Fast food may appear to be cheap food and, in the literal sense it often is, but that is because huge social and environmental costs are being excluded from the calculations.

~Prince Charles

Your greatest achievement is to love me.

~Prince Charles

I was totally absorbed. I was in another world, or another dimension; all sense of time evaporated.

~Prince Charles

Painting transports me into another dimension which, quite literally, refreshes parts of the soul which other activities can't reach.

~Prince Charles

We have spent the best part of the past century enthusiastically testing the world to utter destruction; not looking closely enough at the long-term impact our actions will have.

~Prince Charles

We don't, in a sensible world, want to hand on an increasingly dysfunctional world to our grandchildren.

~Prince Charles

To avert disaster, we have not only to teach men to make things but to teach them to have complete moral control over what they make.

~Prince Charles

I believe passionately that everyone has a particular God-given ability.

~Prince Charles

Hong Kong has created one of the most successful societies on Earth.

~Prince Charles

I think we need to recover the depth, the subtlety, the generosity of imagination, the respect for wisdom that so marked Islam in its great ages.

~Prince Charles

We should be treating, I think, the whole issue of climate change and global warming with a far greater degree of priority than I think is happening now.

~Prince Charles

If you chuck away too many things, you end up discovering there was value in them.

~Prince Charles

If your children want to alter society, listen to their reasons and the idealism behind them. Don't crush them with some clever remark straight away.

~Prince Charles

It seems to me self-evident that we cannot have capitalism without capital and, very importantly, that the ultimate source of all economic capital is Nature's capital

~Prince Charles

Boy, the things I do for England.

~Prince Charles

Climate change should be seen as the greatest challenge to face man and treated as a much bigger priority in the United Kingdom.

~Prince Charles

I think we'd be very foolish to expect that we can just import everything from somewhere else and imagine that that's going to last for ever and ever and ever

~Prince Charles

Forests are the world's air-conditioning system-the lungs of the planet-and we are on the verge of switching it off.

~Prince Charles
