Learn the true topography; the monstrous and wonderful archetypes are not inside you, not inside your consciousness; you are inside them, trapped and howling to get out

~R. A. Lafferty

The law of levity is allowed to supersede the law of gravity.

~R. A. Lafferty

The best time to write a story is yesterday. The next best time is today.

~R. A. Lafferty

An excess of science will leave none of us alive.

~R. A. Lafferty

We must kill the Devil afresh every day.

~R. A. Lafferty

When we travel we find how greatly our boyhood dreams are outstripped by reality.

~R. A. Lafferty

Though my short stories are the more readable, my novels do have more to say; and they will, if anyone has the patience for it, repay a rereading.

~R. A. Lafferty

The lowest common denominator of the universe is both low and common.

~R. A. Lafferty

True love is that we should hate whatever interferes with our vision of the high and the lowly.

~R. A. Lafferty

Every science is made up entirely of anomalies rearranged to fit.
