When I was very young I wanted to be a professional horseback rider. Then I wanted to be a pop singer. Then I wanted to be a psychiatrist. Then I wanted to be a movie director.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I don't see it as a form of healing, because if you have wounds that are bleeding I don't think acting will ever get them to stop. But I find acting is a form of illumination.

~Rebecca De Mornay

It's a very difficult thing for people to accept, seeing women act out anger on the screen. We're more accustomed to seeing men expressing rage and women crying.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I was just glad to be going to work again.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I hate plastic surgery. I have a horror of any kind of knife. I don't like it.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I just want to tell stories that have an impact on people. Somebody needs to have an impact because people are lost. People are really lost.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I've made some great movies. 'Risky Business' still stands up. It's timeless. They study that film in film school.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I have this very strange sensitive skin. If I put anything on it but this one product, it erupts into a rash.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I grew up in Europe, and I used to like those very slow-moving European films. I've been contaminated by the American TV culture, and I just want things to move faster now.

~Rebecca De Mornay

Everything I thought about acting and having a movie career has changed from what I thought when I started.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I've never had a manager, and I've had various agents, and, fortunately or unfortunately, I've been blessed.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I've never committed to a role without a script.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I may be an optimist.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I think there's a knowingness in my face.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I love my friends. I love my love-life. I love my hobbies. I love eating.

~Rebecca De Mornay

I'm voraciously looking to express myself in my work. I love my work.
