If you haven't got love, you've got nothing.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I like listening to old soul music. I like Sam Cooke. When I was growing up, the first things I was listening to was Whitney Houston and Cher. They were really big inspirations for me.

~Rebecca Ferguson

You meet someone, you care for them, and you fall in love; it's what it is.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I don't tend to lie. If I do, it's a little one. Like, 'I'm only around the corner...' when really I'm 10 minutes away.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I'm not afraid of a rant, am I? I've got to that point where I've just become a woman; I think I've just grown.

~Rebecca Ferguson

Constantly having to think about money is not nice. People used to say, 'Being rich doesn't make you happy'. And I'd think, 'I've got no electricity, nothing - tell that to my empty fridge'.

~Rebecca Ferguson

If you are not happy with the song, don't sing it. Simple as that - no-one forces you to do it.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I'd definitely like more kids when I'm older. And I think I'm like every woman in that I'd like to get married one day.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I was looking for something to make me happy, and once I realised

what I actually had, then I found success.

~Rebecca Ferguson

If you are going to survive in business, show business or any business, then you have to be bold.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I love hats and winter is the perfect time for them. I love winter time fashion.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I can't watch my first audition because it makes me too upset. I just think it is really sad. I look at myself and don't recognize myself. I do think fame and fortune changes people.

~Rebecca Ferguson

Growing up, we didn't have anything. My mum wasn't well, so I was in three care homes then foster homes before me and my little brother went back to her. I was passed from pillar to post.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I like Marilyn Monroe; she was super glam, weren't she?

~Rebecca Ferguson

I absolutely love Nicole Scherzinger. She's worked really hard to get to where she is and really knows her stuff.

~Rebecca Ferguson

People think that because of my nature and the tone of my voice that I'm stupid, and that's hard.

~Rebecca Ferguson

My first album is a lot of my personal experiences. I wanted people to relate to what I've been through.

~Rebecca Ferguson

My advice is, if you are going to go on 'X Factor,' you have to know who you are as an artist.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I don't really read books. Wish I did.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I like to write poetry.

~Rebecca Ferguson

I'm a better writer than I am a singer, and I express myself easily through writing.

~Rebecca Ferguson

My family are too grounded, and I will go home to visit. I always need my dose of Liverpool to keep me grounded.
