The piano by its black and white keys always attracted me, my father showed me how to use... and slowly I got into playing.

~Richard Clayderman

I think that you can absolutely enjoy your artistic passion without seeking for the cult of celebrity.

~Richard Clayderman

I am rather what we usually call a Pop pianist with my own romantic style.

~Richard Clayderman

I am not what one calls a celebrity.

~Richard Clayderman

I am rather discreet and shy!

~Richard Clayderman

I do not remember the most challenging one but I remember that many of the titles I have recorded have been quite challenging for me.

~Richard Clayderman

A long time ago, I remember having cooperated with Shirley Bassey and I will never forget this moment which I shared with her while playing for and with her.

~Richard Clayderman

In fact although I have studied in a Conservatory the classical piano, I do not consider myself a classical pianist.

~Richard Clayderman

In fact, among the 1000 titles which I have recorded in the past 35 years, there are less than 10% of classical titles.

~Richard Clayderman

Some people know me because of my music and come and see me in my concerts but you very rarely see me or hear me in press or TV or radio magazines.

~Richard Clayderman

There is also the guitar player Pat Metheny with whom I'd like to work with: he is so elegant and so emotional when he plays that I am sure that, together, we could make a good team.

~Richard Clayderman

I would also like to mention pianists like Michel Petrucciani or Chick Corea for whom I have great admiration in the jazz field.
