

Richard Heinberg

Quotes

Oil, Environmental, Energy, People, Civilization, Real, Goal, Ecosystems, Impact, Decline, Hate, America, Past, Economic, Political, Levels, Profound, Frustration, Years, Thinking

When we decline to talk about what is real simply because it's uncomfortable to do so, we seal our own fate.

~Richard Heinberg

The real problem is that we use too much oil. It's that simple and that difficult. If we truly want to reduce our vulnerability to high prices, the best way to do so is to reduce consumption.

~Richard Heinberg

The science is in: either we go cold turkey on our coal, oil, and gas addictions, or we risk raising the planet's temperature to a level incompatible with the continued existence of civilization.

~Richard Heinberg

Today, it is especially difficult for most people to understand our perilous global energy situation precisely because it has never been more important to do so.

~Richard Heinberg

What's new is high oil prices and the economy hates high oil prices.

~Richard Heinberg

Economic growth as we have known it is over and done with.

~Richard Heinberg

Related Links:

- Oil Quotes
- Environmental Quotes
- Energy Quotes
- People Quotes
- Civilization Quotes
- Real Quotes
- Goal Quotes
- Ecosystems Quotes
- Impact Quotes
- Decline Quotes
- Hate Quotes
- America Quotes
- Past Quotes
- Economic Quotes
- Political Quotes
- Levels Quotes
- Profound Quotes
- Frustration Quotes
- Years Quotes
- Thinking Quotes