I never had a penny to my name, so I changed my name.

~Richard Prince

We do not make art. We have unnamable motors and dangerous impulses that occupy our thoughts.

~Richard Prince

It would be strange for me to think I'm being ripped off, because that's what I do!

~Richard Prince

Is passion what we are? Is that what we are in pictures? Is what we are in pictures almost real? Maybe it's become the most real thing.

~Richard Prince

The subject comes first, the medium second.

~Richard Prince

I wouldn't mind people saying, "You can't do this because this isn't enough."

~Richard Prince

A lot of it's experimental, spontaneous. It's about knocking about in the studio and bumping into things.

~Richard Prince

The way you would know if someone is famous in the art world is that you would ask your mother. My mother knows who Picasso was. She knows who Warhol was.

~Richard Prince

I didn't like hovering above myself and looking back, or going through a door and thinking, How many times did I just go through that door? How do I get back? You know, that's not for me.

~Richard Prince
