All I wanted was just what everybody else wants, you know, to be loved.

~Rita Hayworth

I think all women have a certain elegance about them which is destroyed when they take off their clothes.

~Rita Hayworth

Every man I knew went to bed with Gilda... and woke up with me.

~Rita Hayworth

I never really thought of myself as a sex goddess; I felt I was more a comedian who could dance.

~Rita Hayworth

Basically, I am a good, gentle person, but I am attracted to mean personalities.

~Rita Hayworth

After all, a girl is... well, a girl. It's nice to be told you're successful at it.

~Rita Hayworth

We are all tied to our destiny and there is no way we can liberate ourselves.

~Rita Hayworth

Old age - that's when a woman takes vitamins A through G, and still looks like H.

~Rita Hayworth

What surprises me in life are not the marriages that fail, but the marriages that succeed.

~Rita Hayworth

I always thought that if I ever got good reviews I'd be happy. It's so empty. It's never what I wanted, ever. All I wanted was just what everybody else wants - to be loved.

~Rita Hayworth

I can't take his genius any more.

~Rita Hayworth

Every man I have ever known has fallen in love with Gilda and awakened with me.

~Rita Hayworth

Whatever you write about me, don't make it sad.

~Rita Hayworth

From the time I was twelve I was dancing for bread and butter, but in my heart I was always an actress.

~Rita Hayworth

Movies were much better in the days when I was doing them.

~Rita Hayworth

Dancing in Tijuana when I was 13 â€” that was my 'summer camp.' How else do you think I could keep up with Fred Astaire when I was 19?

~Rita Hayworth

I've had a lot of unhappiness in my life â€” and a lot of happiness. Who doesn't? Maybe I've learned enough to be able to guide my daughters.

~Rita Hayworth

I haven't had everything from life. I've had too much.

~Rita Hayworth

Every actor. every director, everybody needs an Oscar. You have to have that little statue in Hollywood or else you are nothing.

~Rita Hayworth

To Yesterday's Companionship and Tomorrow's Reunion.

~Rita Hayworth

Who wouldn't prefer having breakfast in bed to getting up at the crack of dawn and having a cup of coffee in a studio makeup department?

~Rita Hayworth

I'm an afternoon person.

~Rita Hayworth

From the time I was three and a half... as soon as I could stand on my own feet, I was given dance lessons.

~Rita Hayworth

When you're in love you're living, you matter.

~Rita Hayworth

Sensitive, shy-of course I was. The fun of acting is to become someone else.

~Rita Hayworth

I guess the only jewels of my life were the pictures I made with Fred Astaire.

~Rita Hayworth

No one can be Gilda twenty-four hours a day.

~Rita Hayworth

When I look back on my marriages, or the breakups, sure I know the pain I went through, but that's part of life and it has its own value.

~Rita Hayworth

Just because I was married to Aly Khan, people think I'm rich. Well, I'm not. I never got a dime from Aly or from any of my husbands.

~Rita Hayworth

Men fell in love with Gilda, but they wake up with me.
