When Depeche Mode put out a single you knew that a week later you could go and buy the 12" and it would have six versions and they were all better.

~Rob Brown

If we spent as much time feeling positive about getting older, as we do trying to stay young, how much different our lives would be.

~Rob Brown

You can't go back and edit during the live set in the club. In the studio it's different.

~Rob Brown

Your reputation is what influences people to think, feel and talk about you the way they do.

~Rob Brown

I know that there's a lot of room to maneuver in those kind of ghostly musical spheres.

~Rob Brown

I wouldn't judge people on their instant responses.

~Rob Brown

Despite a lot of people thinking that everything gets more and more difficult, I always assumed that people are going to be "Oh, at last you buckled, you're trying to be commercial."

~Rob Brown

It's very hard to predict what people are thinking.

~Rob Brown

There's not much room for deviation, yet if you manage to crack it, there then you can express things that actually do sound unique and genuinely original.

~Rob Brown

When you're in the studio, you've got a narrative for what goes on, you might switch on a bit of gear and it might not work as you intended or come out a bit wrong, and you try and exploit it.

~Rob Brown

You can sit in front of a computer and have a blank slate and be completely overwhelmed by the possibilities and not get anywhere.

~Rob Brown

When you work on a computer in the studio, it's almost like fossilizing on the spot, you know, the idea of getting solidified on the spot, like a snowflake might create branches by accumulation.

~Rob Brown

I would like to be remembered as a responsible human being who handled business while also taking care of his family.

~Rob Brown

I realize I'm an ambitious guy, but I just try to take things as they come, you know, for the most part.

~Rob Brown

We cannot make rivers whole unless we wholly understand them.

~Rob Brown

The biggest revolutions are the ones that happen in-between our ears.
