I think it's almost an indulgence to focus on the dark side of things. And as you get older, you want to focus on the positive.

~Rob Brydon

There are some people who only know me for cornflakes ads, and that's fine. I have a charmed life.

~Rob Brydon

I'm prone to a more depressed outlook on life.

~Rob Brydon

I'm a very, very handsome man, and have had to come to terms with it... um, do I like the way I look? In the right light, and with a following wind.

~Rob Brydon

When you're doing stand-up, you can comment if something fails, get a laugh from that.

~Rob Brydon

I don't think any of my kids would have a good word to say about me. I think they deny that they even know me. At school, they pretend they are Anton du Beke's kids.

~Rob Brydon

I just look like someone with a long face. Not just A. P. McCoy himself, but some of the horses he rides.

~Rob Brydon

If you're a comedian, you are looking for material in daily life.

~Rob Brydon

I would have to say my earthy sensuality - although I should point out that the backs of my calves are exemplary and my upper inner thigh is a delight.

~Rob Brydon

I still have lots of friends from my pre-success days.

~Rob Brydon

I think, if you've got children, that's your life. Your 'showbiz' life, if you want to call it that, is a separate thing, and it isn't everything to me.

~Rob Brydon

Terribly sad news about Stuart Cable, such a lovely, warm, funny, talented man.

~Rob Brydon

I like witty people, people who can be witty on the spot.

~Rob Brydon

I had a moment where I realised I could do silly voices, that lots of people I knew couldn't do silly voices, and that thus I must be able to make money doing silly voices.

~Rob Brydon

I do seem to look like a lot of people.
