If you have a secret, people will sit a little bit closer.

~Rob Corddry

I just want to do cool stuff.

~Rob Corddry

Once I found out how much an Off-Off-Broadway actor makes, I was whoring myself out the next day.

~Rob Corddry

I learned more about elections on election night 2000 than I ever did during my 16 years of schooling.

~Rob Corddry

I have a wife and two daughters; people who depend on me. Everything is more important than it was when I was 20. But now I'm like, "Eh, I made it this far."

~Rob Corddry

I want to manufacture a feud.

~Rob Corddry

I get all of my comedy from CNN.

~Rob Corddry

If anything, there's more at stake when you're older, and more responsibility and more legitimate things to worry about.

~Rob Corddry

Ethanol is, in its pure form, just as much of a sham as oil.

~Rob Corddry

I don't like gadgets for their own sake. I like gadgets that are tools. And I like simple gadgets that do one thing really well like a hammer.

~Rob Corddry

This limited theatrical release was a nice little bonus that I never expected.

~Rob Corddry

The head writer loves that my character is a boor.

~Rob Corddry

I didn't really feel 100 percent comfortable until we started working on the 2004 election.

~Rob Corddry

If people see me in some sort of niche, then that's fine. As long as it's not "The Naked Guy." I don't care.

~Rob Corddry

The show is a satire, which gives us freedom to do anything we want. Satire is the magic word that wipes away any culpability. The media is jealous of this freedom.

~Rob Corddry

I have to stay true to myself.

~Rob Corddry

It looks like garbage, my ass. But trust me, you're lucky it's not full-frontal.

~Rob Corddry

I like playing really super-intense, live-in-the-moment characters. It asks me to not phone it in. It's impossible to phone it in. Every American boy has spent his childhood pretending to get shot.

~Rob Corddry

If it's January, I'm dead in three hours. But in June, I'd be hungry, but I'd make it out. I'd find my way without a map or compass. I say that with confidence. I can build a fire without a match.

~Rob Corddry

I don't know how this company got the name National Shakespeare Company, because it was literally like retards employing retards.

~Rob Corddry

Pat OBrien knows nothing. Hes on the Hell express.

~Rob Corddry

I am realizing how old I am 'cause I am meeting so many people that were born in the 80s, which is crazy to me that I was going through puberty and [they weren't] even alive.

~Rob Corddry

The first year or so on The Daily Show is pretty intense in terms of travel. You're going to the worst places in the country, talking to the craziest people in the world.

~Rob Corddry

I remember interviewing someone I actually felt bad for, and therefore didn't want to take an ironic stance against him. It actually turned out to be a really funny piece.

~Rob Corddry

I touched an Oscar once. Friend of mine has one, for writing. As soon as I touched it, he said, Now you'll never win one.

~Rob Corddry

I remember saying in college that I would never do commercials.

~Rob Corddry

I've got like a week and a half left, all bets are off.

~Rob Corddry

I've been an Apple guy since the mid 80's and that's when I was like, "Boy, you guys really got me here. I know exactly what you're doing, right down to your price points."

~Rob Corddry

I didn't hang any pictures in my office for a year because I thought that I would be jinxing myself and have to take them down the next day.

~Rob Corddry

I don't feel rivalry. I'm the least competitive person you'll meet ever, to a fault.

~Rob Corddry

People want other people to know that they share our sensibility even if they're not exactly sure what that sensibility is.

~Rob Corddry

As a teenager, I was very much a people pleaser and that excludes being adventuresome at all. I was a Boy Scout though and so that's as adventuresome as I got.

~Rob Corddry

I was going out for absolutely everything that was in Backstage.

~Rob Corddry

I actually got the part. And I thought, Well, I'll do it for a while. I'll just quit if it's stupid.

~Rob Corddry

I've always defined myself as a writer, I've never decided what it was I was gonna write. [...] I always fancied myself one, but I'm not. I'm so far from a writer.

~Rob Corddry

My mother was very, very Protestant. I grew up Presbyterian, and I went to church every Sunday until I was 18. I was forced to.

~Rob Corddry

You're encouraged to pitch your own story. That way, you'll have more control over what you do.

~Rob Corddry

Anything that you can do a tiny bit of research about, I'll turn it into an obsession.

~Rob Corddry

I always fancied myself more of an actor than a comedian before I realized that only assholes make that kind of distinction.

~Rob Corddry

Anything would deserve a sequel if the right elements are there.

~Rob Corddry

I really think of it - acting and writing and producing, whatever - as shipping. You gotta ship. Put the widget together in the easiest, quickest way possible and ship the product.

~Rob Corddry

For most of my life, I was a worrier and an over-thinker. I had pretty bad social anxiety.

~Rob Corddry

I've always wanted to be an actor. I didn't get into this game to be the best improviser in the world. I didn't choose improv as a stepping stone, it just happened to become one.

~Rob Corddry

Why should I be feeling tension? It's The Daily Show.

~Rob Corddry

Apparently it's cool to watch The Daily Show.

~Rob Corddry

Sometimes we have to actually say, I think you're really funny, but none of your jokes are going to make it on the air. So just answer my questions. Seriously.
