I wonder what the difference is between love and lust.

~Rob Payne

It's nice to have one worry marched to the wings and forcefully thrown into the alleyway.

~Rob Payne

People are shuffling by in long coats, with shopping bags and takeout, smoking cigarettes and feigning laughter - filling up their lives with distractions to shut out the chaos.

~Rob Payne

If life is a journey, time should pull over at a rest stop sometimes - we should all be given a chance to get off and stretch our legs, collect our thoughts and reorganize.

~Rob Payne

Being unique is highly over rated.

~Rob Payne

There has to be a better use for titanium than golf clubs.

~Rob Payne

People never realize how much work impacts their self esteem and sense of purpose until they leave a job.

~Rob Payne

False hope is the bread - and - butter of my existence, the only thing that keeps me going.

~Rob Payne

Are people happier with a smaller range of experiences?

~Rob Payne

I'm trustworthy and true and a whole of other positive words that start with T.

~Rob Payne

Sometimes I wonder why the corporate world is seen as a god choice for those of us that will never rise above clerical work and general administration.

~Rob Payne

I pitied myself for having no door until I met a man with no dividers.

~Rob Payne

Authority is permission to spew platitudes to people below you.
