Science walks forward on two feet, namely theory and experiment.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

There is no likelihood that man can ever tap the power of the atom

~Robert Andrews Millikan

Fullness of knowledge always and necessarily means some understanding of the depths of our ignorance, and that is always conducive to both humility and reverence.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

Religion and science, then, in my analysis are the two great sister forces which have pulled, and are still pulling, mankind onward and upward.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

My idea of an educated person is one who can converse on one subject for more than two minutes.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

To me it is unthinkable that a real atheist could be a scientist.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

The pathetic thing about it is that many scientists are trying to prove the doctrine of evolution, which no science can do.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

Science walks forward on two feet, namely theory and experiment. Sometimes it is one foot which is put forward first, sometimes the other, but continuous progress is only made by the use of both.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

I consider an intimate knowledge of the Bible an indispensable quality of a well educated man.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

Interest and attention will insure to you an education.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

Civilization consists in the multiplication and refinement of human wants.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

Perhaps the Mad Hatter had a reason for calling time Him.

~Robert Andrews Millikan

I conceive the essential task of religion to be "to develop the consciences, the ideals, and the aspirations of mankind".
