A dog could see your heart in your eyes, Budress told him, and dogs were drawn to our hearts.

~Robert Crais

She asked me why I always had something flip to say. I said that I didn't know, but having been blessed with the gift, I felt obliged to use it.

~Robert Crais

Everyone knows dogs. Most people love dogs. I think most American families probably have a dog, but I don't think people really realize or understand just how wonderful and special dogs are.

~Robert Crais

Dogs give us something just as we give something to them.

~Robert Crais

Everything we are is anchored in our childhoods. The drama comes in how we deal with it. Are we slaves to our past, or can we rise above it? This is the stuff of great stories.

~Robert Crais

The sense of smell in all dogs is their primary doorway to the world around them.

~Robert Crais

Lucy took a single plain donut from the bag and held it for me to take a bite. Tender and light and still warm from the frying. Not too sugary.

~Robert Crais

The relationship between a military working dog and a military dog handler is about as close as a man and a dog can become. You see this loyalty, the devotion, unlike any other and the protectiveness.

~Robert Crais

When dogs fulfill their roles they are ecstatically happy.

~Robert Crais

L.A.'s magic has let me see every level of the dream.

~Robert Crais

Sometimes I am so dry that people don't know I'm kidding and think I'm being serious. I enjoy this because their reactions are often funny.

~Robert Crais

Stalking the Angel [Joe]"I could off anybody in this place five times over." [Elvis]"Could you off someone and get away with you here?" [Joe]Head shake. "I'm too good even for me.

~Robert Crais

I write characters and stories that move me, and I write from the heart.

~Robert Crais

People want you to be ordinary.

~Robert Crais

My books come to me in images, and sometimes the image is at the beginning of the book, and sometimes it's simply a flash somewhere in the middle.

~Robert Crais

My family was all police and hard hats at the refineries; they didn't know what to think about me. So I became a closet writer.

~Robert Crais

Efficiency and focus are the keys to success.

~Robert Crais

It's easy to sound good. All you do is leave in the parts where you act tough and forget the parts where you get shoved around.

~Robert Crais

I have these huge black foam boards on the wall, and tacked to them, I have these white punch cards with my story ideas, scenes and notes.

~Robert Crais

I love the fact that you collaborate with your readers when you write a book.

~Robert Crais

I was digging for stuff in a used bookstore, and I came upon 'Little Sister.' I fell in love with Chandler that night. I fell right down the rabbit hole of crime fiction.

~Robert Crais

Pike put down the cat. He slid from Pike's arms like molasses and puddled at his feet.

~Robert Crais

If my vision was good enough, I'd be an astronaut.

~Robert Crais

Los Angeles is the evolutionary edge.
