I think one thing that always attracted me to movies was the personalities. I went to movies not because the stories necessarily appealed to me, but because of the people in them.

~Robert Osborne

I can't imagine any one more delightful to sit and talk with about movies on a regular basis.

~Robert Osborne

There are not that many people in the movies today that really make me go out and buy a movie ticket.

~Robert Osborne

I'm very enthusiastic about the Academy Awards because if there were no Oscars, we wouldn't have as many good movies as we do have.

~Robert Osborne

The press today is full of people who are not qualified and not trying very hard to be good reporters.

~Robert Osborne

America once had the clarity of the pioneer ax.

~Robert Osborne

It's hard to be reverent today when directors make films that are not as good. There will be time later, though, when their lesser films are forgotten and just focus on the greatness.

~Robert Osborne

The closest to Hepburn is Cate Blanchett.
