We don't take a macro view... We'd look at every company to figure out if trade sanctions are helpful or hurtful.

~Robert Pozen

We can't count on the Fed to inject this level of liquidity that we saw last year.

~Robert Pozen

Wall Street is at best ambivalent. The size of the accounts is nothing big. How many Wall Street firms do you know that are running after people with $5,000 accounts?

~Robert Pozen

Most people get overwhelmed by the insignificant decisions of their lives. I'm urging people to minimize the time spent on these when they're not critical to their most important goals.

~Robert Pozen

The way you delegate is that first you have to hire people that you really have confidence in. You won't truly let those people feel a sense of autonomy if you don't have confidence in them.

~Robert Pozen

No matter what your career aspirations are, you should begin by thinking carefully about why you are engaging in any activity and what you can expect to get out of it.

~Robert Pozen

The most important thing is to talk to people that have jobs that you might like and to see what they say the job involves.

~Robert Pozen

Priorities are the yearly goals that I'm most interested in achieving, then they become operationalized through weekly goals.

~Robert Pozen

If you want an active schedule, you have to husband your time so you can act on the things that are important.

~Robert Pozen

I'm used to being productive, ever since I was young.

~Robert Pozen

You need to agree with your boss about what you need to get done that week, what are the metrics of success. Sometimes you need more hours, sometimes you need fewer hours.
