Passion is the quickest to develop, and the quickest to fade. Intimacy develops more slowly, and commitment more gradually still.

~Robert Sternberg

If you're not adapting to the very rapidly changing environment, if you can't think creatively, you lose big in this society because there are very few jobs for you left.

~Robert Sternberg

The essence of intelligence would seem to be in knowing when to think and act quickly, and knowing when to think and act slowly.

~Robert Sternberg

There is no recipe to be a great teacher, that's what is unique about them.

~Robert Sternberg

And in order to succeed in later life, you need creative skills because look at how fast the world is changing.

~Robert Sternberg

Success in life does not necessarily originate with academic success.

~Robert Sternberg

I've taught statistics, math courses and what I've found is that often if you teach them algebraically the formulas, you'll have one group of kids doing well.

~Robert Sternberg

You can quickly go from having passion and love to passion and hate when an act of betrayal happens.

~Robert Sternberg

So, for example, if a child is labeled as having a learning disability, it has very concrete consequences for the kinds of services and potentially accommodations that child will get.

~Robert Sternberg

There was already a famous Sternberg in psychology and it was obvious there would not be another.

~Robert Sternberg

But in any case, I did poorly on the tests and so, in the first three years of school, I had teachers who thought I was stupid and when people think you're stupid, they have low expectations for you.

~Robert Sternberg

I had planned to be a psychology major, but I bombed introductory psychology.

~Robert Sternberg

I'm more of a creative learner, ... I do very well in projects, but I was not good at memorizing all of that material in the introductory courses.

~Robert Sternberg

But what many psychologists have done, probably because they did well on a test themselves and everyone wants high self esteem, is to create this little box and then do their research inside it.
