The orchid is Mother Nature's masterpiece.

~Robyn

I was speechless. Rare for me, but if anyone was capable of shocking me to silence, it was my mother.

~Robyn

People think plus-size models don't exercise - we do! But it's about health, not forcing my body to be something it's not meant to be.

~Robyn

You apply the skills you use to produce your own book to make an anthology. Shaping. Rhythm.

~Robyn

Technology has a lot to do with how the world is developing at the moment because there are very raw and pure and primal emotions that people are communicating to each other over the Internet.

~Robyn

The funny thing about gold is how quickly it can tarnish.

~Robyn

Sometimes I write songs that just come out in a pop format because I grew up on melody and these amazing artists during the 80s. It's my tradition and it's something that I can't really control.

~Robyn

It was about being able to dance like Cassidy did, as though no one was watching, as though the moment was infinite enough without needing to document its existence.

~Robyn

I don't think of myself as just a pop artist, but someone who knows she has a bigger meaning. I'm not doing this for myself; I'm doing this because it's my destiny.

~Robyn

Maybe I bring people into that pop world who don't usually find themselves there because there's not enough stuff for them to get excited about otherwise.

~Robyn

When we awaken to the beauty of nature, the doors to our true self are opened up wide, for divine healing on all levels.

~Robyn

[In making music] it's nice to not have a goal, to not have a set format. It's very liberating to just get out of your comfort zone and be in a new space.

~Robyn

If everything really does get better, the way everyone claims, then happiness should be graphable. But that's crap, because better isn't quantifiable.

~Robyn

And I realized that there's a big difference between deciding to leave and knowing where to go.

~Robyn

The way I figured it, keeping quiet was safe. Words could betray you if you choose the wrong ones, or mean less if you used too many.

~Robyn

I wondered what things what things became when you no longer needed them, and I wondered what the future would hold once we'd gotten past our personal tragedies and proven them ultimately survivable.

~Robyn

The marketing is just as important as the music, almost.

~Robyn

I always felt like I could combine good pop songs that are easy for people to like with a real person and a real mind and integrity.

~Robyn

The music industry is such a huge machine. There are still a lot of good people in it, but the character of the industry and the culture of the industry is very fast.

~Robyn

I try to be genuine. I try to be real. It's such a subjective thing, but I try to convey an emotion.

~Robyn

Even if I'm sad, dancing is a way to let stuff out.

~Robyn

You cant censor peoples dreams.

~Robyn

When I'm in the studio, I become a total nerd.

~Robyn

History is filled with fictional people.

~Robyn

Commercial music is music that a lot of people connect to at the same time, but that doesn't mean it has to be something shallow or without personality.

~Robyn

Activists are cultural artists. They envision a world that does not yet exist, and then take action to create that world.'

~Robyn

Prince is king to me. As this half-naked, short black guy who looked like a girl in the 70s and 80s, he was talking about women in a way that was very unusual because he didn't objectify them.

~Robyn

Having access to mobile phones and being able to document your own life brings people together.

~Robyn

People say, "I can't take you seriously because you're so young." But I think when you're young, what you feel is more pure.
