The greatest crime is not developing your potential. When you do what you do best, you are helping not only yourself, but the world.

~Roger Williams

It is less hurtful to compel a man to marry someone whom he does not love than to follow a religion in which he does not believe.

~Roger Williams

God is too large to be housed under one roof.

~Roger Williams

The sovereign power of all civil authority is founded in the consent of the people.

~Roger Williams

When they have opened a gap in the ... wall of separation between the Garden of the Church and the wilderness of the world, God hath ever ... made his Garden a Wilderness.

~Roger Williams

The human body heals itself and nutrition provides the resources to accomplish the task.

~Roger Williams

That cannot be a true religion which needs carnal weapons to uphold it.

~Roger Williams

When in doubt, use nutrition first.

~Roger Williams

Men's consciences ought in no sort to be violated, urged, or constrained.

~Roger Williams

A false worship will not hurt the civil state if the worshipper breaks no civil law.

~Roger Williams

Sometimes the truth is stupid.

~Roger Williams

Having bought truth dear, we must not sell it cheap, not the least grain of it for the whole world.

~Roger Williams

Forced worship stinks in God's nostrils

~Roger Williams

Kings and magistrates are invested with no more power than the people entrust to them.

~Roger Williams

Consider England. Within a few score years how many unsettling changes in religion has the whole kingdom made, according to the change of its rulers, in the various religions which they embraced.

~Roger Williams

Civil government is an ordinance of God, to conserve the civil peace of a people, so far as concerns their bodies and goods.

~Roger Williams

I do not condone hostility toward any church simply to vent personal malice or umbrage.

~Roger Williams

Health requires healthy food.

~Roger Williams

We find not in the Gospel, that Christ hath anywhere provided for the uniformity of churches, but only for their unity.

~Roger Williams

Pray that no sleep may seize upon your eyes, nor slumber upon your eyelids until your thoughts have seriously, calmly, and unchangably fixed.

~Roger Williams

When He send, His messengers will go, His prophets will prophesy, though all the world should forbid them.

~Roger Williams

God requireth not an uniformity of Religion to be inacted and inforced in any civill state.

~Roger Williams

When in doubt, try nutrition first.

~Roger Williams

Reflect upon your own spirit, and believe Him that said it to His overzealous disciples, 'You know not what spirit you are of.'

~Roger Williams

All men of conscience or prudence ply to windward, to maintain their wars to be defensive.

~Roger Williams

All who are entrusted with spiritual and temporal talents must lay them out for the Lord and Master's advantage.

~Roger Williams

The magistrates of whom Paul wrote were natural, ungodly, persecuting, and yet lawful magistrates, to be obeyed in all lawful civil things.

~Roger Williams

It is only the Lord who is able to give [unbelievers] repentance and recover them out of Satan's snare.
