

Rolf Potts Quotes

Long, Home, Simplicity, Travel, Simple, Interesting, Thinking, Running, People, Rich, Spiritual, Adventure, Knowing, Reality, Sacrifice, Choices, Order, Waiting, Possibility, Common Sense

I think your travels get better when you stop showcasing your journey to others and begin to live it, quietly and joyfully.

~Rolf Potts

Time is the truest form of wealth. And the beauty is, we are all born equally rich in time.

~Rolf Potts

Long-term travel doesn't require a massive bundle of cash; it requires only that we walk through the world in a more deliberate way.

~Rolf Potts

If in doubt, just walk until your day becomes interesting.

~Rolf Potts

Begin to look at maps with the narcotic tingle of possibility.

~Rolf Potts

there is still an overwhelming social compulsion-an insanity of consensus, if you will-to get rich from life rather than live richly, to "do well" in the world instead of living well.

~Rolf Potts

The simple willingness to improvise is more vital, in the long run, than research.

~Rolf Potts

What better way to discover the unknown than to follow your instincts instead of your plans.

~Rolf Potts

Indeed, the most vivid travel experiences usually find you by accident, and the qualities that will make you fall in love with a place are rarely the features that took you there.

~Rolf Potts

Of all the adventures and challenges that wait on the vagabonding road, the most difficult can be the act of coming home.

~Rolf Potts

Vagabonding is about not merely reallocating a portion of your life for travel but rediscovering the entire concept of time.

~Rolf Potts

The goal of preparation then is not knowing exactly where you'll go but being confident nonetheless that you'll get there.

~Rolf Potts

The mind can be a crazy monkey that is always dying to escape from the moment.

~Rolf Potts

Work is when you confront the problems you might otherwise be tempted to run away from

~Rolf Potts

Vagabonding is an attitude â€” a friendly interest in people, places, and things that makes a person an explorer in the truest, most vivid sense of the word.

~Rolf Potts

If you wander with open eyes and simple curiosity, you'll discover a much richer pleasure - the simple feeling of possibility that hums from every direction as you move from place to place.

~Rolf Potts

In reality long-term travel has nothing to do with demographics, age, ideology, income, and everything to do with personal outlook.

~Rolf Potts

Seeing' as you travel is somewhat of a spiritual exercise: a process not of seeking interesting surroundings, but of being continually interested in whatever surrounds you.

~Rolf Potts

The act of vagabonding is not an isolated trend so much as it is a spectral connection between people long separated by place and time, but somehow speaking the same language.

~Rolf Potts

Related Links:

- Long Quotes
- Home Quotes
- Simplicity Quotes
- Travel Quotes
- Simple Quotes
- Interesting Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Running Quotes
- People Quotes
- Rich Quotes
- Spiritual Quotes
- Adventure Quotes
- Knowing Quotes
- Reality Quotes
- Sacrifice Quotes
- Choices Quotes
- Order Quotes
- Waiting Quotes
- Possibility Quotes
- Common Sense Quotes