One of my biggest lessons in life is, we heal at the speed of our forgiveness.

~Romany Malco

Hollywood is running out of money and in order to keep geetting a third financed, you have to rely on overseas funding, and in order to do that, you have to get recognizable names.

~Romany Malco

I do not have a daily routine, but each morning, I try to spend an hour in bed, visualizing positive outcomes for my life, health, and career.

~Romany Malco

I learned early in life that laughter is a great way to diffuse and uncomfortable situation, so I began to use that as a tool, throughout my life.

~Romany Malco

For my lifestyle, I believe in living 10 times below my means. As a result of that, I have the luxury of working only when I'm inspired.

~Romany Malco

Education, introspection, self-love and excellence are the only ways to overcome the wrath of ignorance

~Romany Malco

I'm one of those people for whom success is one thing, but significance is another. If I can have both, I'm living the dream.

~Romany Malco

Writing a funny story is one thing. But writing a funny story that inspires others to venture beyond their level of comfort in pursuit of their greater good is what makes me come alive.

~Romany Malco

My experience in the music industry made me very thick-skinned. Your art is something very personal and there's never a shortage of critics when it comes to art.

~Romany Malco

My goal in life is to bring to the screen really believable depictions that make you think, "Damn, I have to look within myself."

~Romany Malco

I don't want every fan; I'm interested in fans interested in quality work, authentic archetype depictions.

~Romany Malco

I've lived in Paris. I've lived in the Slovak Republic. I've spent extensive time in England, and I've traveled all over Europe.

~Romany Malco

I had a grandmother who would always encourage me to learn about theater and film.

~Romany Malco

An unresolved past erodes beauty in the present.

~Romany Malco

If you are courageous enough to be still, you are a step closer to becoming empowered.

~Romany Malco

The Universe responds to specificity.

~Romany Malco

I feel comfortable working with people who are secure in themselves and confident in what they do.

~Romany Malco

I always try to get as personal as I can with the characters that I play, which is a reason why I don't play a lot of characters.

~Romany Malco

It's extremely difficult to come across quality material. It's a competitive world.

~Romany Malco

For me, comedy and drama are all the same thing.

~Romany Malco

I'm not really volunteering for no family films. I really like the sweet spot of being able to be edgy and controversial.

~Romany Malco

I haven't really been auditioning. For me is about finding quality work versus finding work. I get a considerable amount of offers everyday.

~Romany Malco

I don't drive an Escalade; I've never lived on a mansion; I live in a townhouse. Even with my internet business, when I was making just shy of a million and a half a year, I lived in the same house.

~Romany Malco

I have the appetite to do different roles that have different backdrops. I'd like to show that there's more to people sitting in cars for reasons other than being police officers.

~Romany Malco

I'd like to change the depictions of life, love, and adventure under what's known as the typical, overused backdrop of Hollywood.

~Romany Malco

When faced with emotional pain, I become still for hours, sometimes days, doing absolutely nothing. It helps me get to the truest source of my suffering.

~Romany Malco

Wanting an honest opinion about my art from someone whose opinion I respect makes me feel vulnerable. It's a great space to be in.

~Romany Malco

Being able to engage my creativity in a way that makes a difference inspires me more than anything.

~Romany Malco

I'm taking the indie filmmaker's approach to building my career and that approach is developing a relationship with the fans.
