Don't repackaging your fear and try to sell it to me as indifference.

~Ron Currie Jr.

I am not your God. Or if I am, I'm no God you can seek out for deliverance or explanation. I'm the kind of God who would eat you without compunction if I were hungry.

~Ron Currie Jr.

Partying means drinking. It also means playing records by Lou Reed and Chicago, which I thought was a city but is also a band it turns out.

~Ron Currie Jr.

Regardless of whether you believe in the Singularity, you will most likely experience the benefits of it. But we don't really know.

~Ron Currie Jr.

My sense of humor tends toward both the dark and the absurd - two great tastes that, in my opinion, taste great together.

~Ron Currie Jr.

You could not be more correct. It does matter. All of it.

~Ron Currie Jr.

Your life has more blue in it than a James Cameron movie.

~Ron Currie Jr.

Love, in its purest form, is biology.

~Ron Currie Jr.

I tend toward the pessimistic end of the spectrum, and unfortunately there's little in human history to convince me that pessimism is unwarranted.

~Ron Currie Jr.

As an atheist and lapsed Catholic, I feel the absence of faith in my own life quite acutely.
