I used to go to rave parties, too, but I was never savvy with techno.

~Rose Byrne

I loved performing; I was always trying to impress my siblings by being a clown. I think that came from being the runt of the litter.

~Rose Byrne

I liked the Beastie Boys and A Tribe Called Quest and Cypress Hill.

~Rose Byrne

You see someone on the street wearing an outfit and then it's on the cover of a magazine. I love. But, you know, I'm Australian, so I'm not too flashy or glitzy.

~Rose Byrne

Anything can happen. Anything happens all the time.

~Rose Byrne

I see myself more as a character actress than a celebrity.

~Rose Byrne

I'm in love with the city. You can impress an Australian with a city, but you can't impress them with a beach.

~Rose Byrne

Here in L.A. the standard of beauty is kind of ridiculous. I want to be doing this when I'm in my fifties and sixties and this isn't what I'm going to look like.

~Rose Byrne

I'm generally a people-pleaser so I get high anxiety from any sort of confrontation.

~Rose Byrne

I was very, very shy when I was little. Acting lets you access all those different parts of yourself to make the character authentic.

~Rose Byrne

I think it's important to keep an element of fear about yourself because it makes you appreciate the jobs.

~Rose Byrne

As an artist I just think comedic actors are really underrated.

~Rose Byrne

What's weird about the cinema business is that you have to have a thick skin while remaining vulnerable as an artist. It comes with time. You get dumped, your heart gets broken.

~Rose Byrne

It's important to have female solidarity and support each other and other actresses.

~Rose Byrne

Comedy has to have momentum in order for it to keep moving along.

~Rose Byrne

They think I'm depressed because I look serious in photos. It's usually because I'm just nervous. But I've stopped dressing for other people. If I think I look good, that's the most important thing.

~Rose Byrne

People would make fun of me and throw things at me and whatever teenagers do.

~Rose Byrne

I've already started saying that I'm 30 when I'm still 29. That way, I'm already there.

~Rose Byrne

My parents were so relaxed by the time I was growing up that I got away with a lot more.

~Rose Byrne

The physical environment of L.A. is really beautiful. It's actually kinda fun, too, if you're working. It's just not really fun if you're not working and you don't know anybody.

~Rose Byrne

Where I am now, you're very much at everybody else's mercy. You have no control over your career in a lot of ways. It's just important to know what your own goals are, because that's empowering.

~Rose Byrne

I often do very serious roles, but really I am a big clown.

~Rose Byrne

Being an actor is mostly about rejection and being out of work. It was a fast lesson in all of that stuff.

~Rose Byrne

Women watch plenty of television and theater. They're consumers, like everybody else. I think people don't thinking women go to the movies is a thing that still has to be addressed and changed.

~Rose Byrne

I have to rein myself in sometimes.

~Rose Byrne

Making a film is an incredibly technical undertaking.

~Rose Byrne

The writing is so great on TV now; it's such a pleasure to watch.

~Rose Byrne

I definitely had creative people around me, but my parents were more just very encouraging.

~Rose Byrne

I love TV as a viewer.

~Rose Byrne

How competitive am I? A healthy amount. I have four siblings. It was competitive just eating dinner, like, "Everyone, get what you want from the chicken." Plus competing for your parents' attention.

~Rose Byrne

The good thing about having a kid is you don't think about that as much. Like when I turned 30, for instance, that was much more momentous. Forty is particularly great for a woman. It's a big thing.

~Rose Byrne

The actor's life, but also the Australian's life. We're wanderers. We like to walk about - we're curious people. I have felt that since I was a teenager.

~Rose Byrne

I have drive, for sure. You have to. It's a tough business; there are a lot of actresses and not a lot of great roles. I don't want to complain because I'm so grateful.

~Rose Byrne

With a comedy, it's so important to see it with an audience and an audience who really wants to be there and is enthusiastic, otherwise it can be quite a traumatizing experience.

~Rose Byrne

Australians, we've got a very healthy sense of humor in us. God forbid we take ourselves too seriously so it's kind of a cultural trait.

~Rose Byrne

I think diversity for most actors is such a blessing. It's something definitely I've strived for.

~Rose Byrne

I see some of the clothes from the '90s is back in fashion. That really freaks me out because that's when I grew up.

~Rose Byrne

As you get older, you just lose that confidence and narcissism you have in your twenties. You realize you have less time on the planet, and you become cynical and less confident.

~Rose Byrne

TV is a completely different discipline, which I think I am still learning about. You just have to learn how to work fast and pace yourself.

~Rose Byrne

The British are so funny.

~Rose Byrne

There's a lot of intensity when you're on a set. And then it just goes away and no one's giving you attention or flooding you with compliments.

~Rose Byrne

I tend to spiral out of control if I'm not working. I get panicked and don't know what to do with myself.

~Rose Byrne

TV is very much a producer and writer or creator-driven machine in the States. And I'm the kind of actor that needs to be pushed and have someone on my case a little bit, so I suffer from that.
