All I want to do really is get married and be a matriarch.

~Sally Phillips

I think everyone is forgetting what plastic surgery is for - if you have a face-eating tumour, lose a breast or are involved in a car accident, then it's a good idea.

~Sally Phillips

A Local Government Stationery Store is something to behold. It's like walking through the back of a cupboard into a really dull Narnia.

~Sally Phillips

I always carry a pair of scissors around with me to cut things out of magazines.

~Sally Phillips

I would love to have been around in the Keystone Studios days.

~Sally Phillips

I wasn't hugely popular at school. In fact, I was bullied at school.

~Sally Phillips

I'm sorry to say I'm very lizard-like. My skin is dry, so covering my face in greasy antioxidants is a better alternative.

~Sally Phillips

When I'm a brunette, it's four times harder to hail a taxi. Then I go blonde again, and suddenly there are taxis everywhere.

~Sally Phillips

If you get 10,000 guys to put their ideal woman into a computer, it still comes out looking like Angelina Jolie.

~Sally Phillips

I definitely used to write a lot at school. Comic poetry and drawings about people.

~Sally Phillips

I truly would love to be a designer-label girl, but I am very much High Street.

~Sally Phillips

I can make a virtue of slapdash. Slapdash can give you courage.

~Sally Phillips

Red carpets and dressing up are a part of work that I enjoy less than some people.

~Sally Phillips

People have really strong images of what church is, and it's almost certainly not the same as mine.

~Sally Phillips

I'm a big fan of community, and I think independence is over-rated.

~Sally Phillips

I don't leave London, really, and I don't do theatre, because I want to put the kids to bed.

~Sally Phillips

~Sally Phillips

A lot of things in 'Parents' I find very truthful.

~Sally Phillips

I tell people that I'm a Christian, but I don't think it's giving an insight into who I am or what I'm about.

~Sally Phillips

I don't get star-struck at all.

~Sally Phillips

I'm feeling incredibly Botox-tempted as my face collapses around my shoulders.

~Sally Phillips

TV feels quite constipated, and the thing I find particularly difficult is the branding of the channels where it's not 'Is it a good script?' but 'Is it a BBC2 script?'

~Sally Phillips

Middle-aged women on telly is a bit of a hot topic - before, we were 27 to 37, and now we're 40 to 50. You do notice as you get older... you go past 35, and suddenly you're playing baddies.

~Sally Phillips

Bad impulse buys make you feel grim, don't they? It's like having consumer Tourette's. I gravitate towards austere foreign-language film DVDs when insecure.

~Sally Phillips

When I'm depressed, I definitely comfort eat, but I also eat when I'm happy. The only time I don't eat is if I am terribly nervous.

~Sally Phillips

When I write, I create really absurd situations which become false

because I am after the joke.

~Sally Phillips

I've got a great relationship with my dad, but I can imagine how annoying it would be if I had to move back into his house.

~Sally Phillips

Comedians have to write to survive because you don't get cast for your beauty.
