When you're running, when you're in elected office, you're surrounded with power. And, so every single day, you have to remind yourself why you're here, and that people put you here for a reason.

~Sam Rasoul

We're here to defend the rights that are enshrined to us by the Constitution, as Americans.

~Sam Rasoul

We need to be fighting and rallying around the common American values. This is where the Democratic Party needs to learn and grow as we move forward.

~Sam Rasoul

Losing elections all across America, and the American people clearly saying the Democratic Party is no longer the party of the people, I don't know how much more objective you can get than that.
