Sweet, Memories, Feelings, Play, Gentle, Life, Children, Sound, Regret, Soul*

I lived to write, and wrote to live.

~Samuel Rogers

Fireside happiness, to hours of ease
Blest with that charm, the certainty to please.

~Samuel Rogers

Long on the wave reflected lustres of play.

~Samuel Rogers

Kindred objects kindred thoughts inspire,
As summer clouds flash forth
electric fire.

~Samuel Rogers

Women have the understanding of the heart,
which is better than that of the head.

~Samuel Rogers

Man to the last is but a forward child;
So eager for the future, come
what may, And to the present so insensible.

~Samuel Rogers

And the Sabbath bell, That over wood and wild and mountain dell
Wanders so far, chasing all thoughts unholy
With sounds most musical,
most melancholy.

~Samuel Rogers

I came to the place of my birth and cried: "The friends of my youth, where are they?"--and an echo answered, "Where are they?"

~Samuel Rogers

Paris strikes the vulgar part of us infinitely the most, but to a thinking mind London is incomparably the most delightful subject for contemplation.

~Samuel Rogers

When with care we have raised an imaginary treasure of happiness, we find at last that the materials of the structure are frail and perishing, and the foundation itself is laid in the sand.

~Samuel Rogers

But the day is spent; And stars are kindling in the firmament, To us how silent--though like ours, perchance, Busy and full of life and circumstance.

~Samuel Rogers

Gentle to others, to himself severe.

~Samuel Rogers

To know her was to love her.

~Samuel Rogers

Every day a little life, a blank to be inscribed with gentle thoughts.

~Samuel Rogers

When a new book is published, read an old one.

~Samuel Rogers

Then never less alone than when alone.

~Samuel Rogers

That very law which moulds a tear And bids it trickle from its source,-
That law preserves the earth a sphere, And guides the planets in their course.

~Samuel Rogers

A man who attempts to read all the new productions must do as the flea does,--skip.

~Samuel Rogers

Example is a motive of very prevailing force on the actions of men.

~Samuel Rogers

Oh! she was good as she was fair. None-none on earth above her! As pure in thought as angels are, To know her was to love her.

~Samuel Rogers

Feeling hearts--touch them but lightly--pour A thousand melodies unheard before.

~Samuel Rogers

Go! you may call it madness, folly; You shall not chase my gloom away! There 's such a charm in melancholy I would not if I could be gay.

~Samuel Rogers

To vanish in the chinks that Time has made.

~Samuel Rogers

A guardian angel o'er his life presiding, Doubling his pleasures, and his cares dividing.

~Samuel Rogers

Those that he loved so long and sees no more, Loved and still loves,-not dead, but gone before,- He gathers round him.

~Samuel Rogers

Think nothing done while aught remains to do.

~Samuel Rogers

Mine be a cot beside the hill; A bee-hive's hum shall soothe my ear; A willowy brook, that turns a mill, With many a fall shall linger near.

~Samuel Rogers

The good are better made by ill, As odours crushed are sweeter still.

~Samuel Rogers

Sweet memory, wafted by the gentle gale, Oft up the stream of Time I turn my sail, To view the fairy haunts of long-lost hours, Blest with far greener shades, far fresher flowers.

~Samuel Rogers

Lull'd in the countless chambers of the brain, Our thoughts are link'd by many a hidden chain; Awake but one, and lo, what myriads rise! Each stamps its image as the other flies!

~Samuel Rogers

The soul of music slumbers in the shell Till waked and kindled by the master's spell; And feeling hearts, touch them but rightly, pour A thousand melodies unheard before!

~Samuel Rogers

Sweet Memory! wafted by thy gentle gale, Oft up the stream of Time I turn my sail.

~Samuel Rogers

It doesn't much signify whom one marries, for one is sure to find next morning that it was someone else.

~Samuel Rogers

Ward has no heart, they say, but I deny it: He has a heart, and gets his speeches by it.

~Samuel Rogers

By many a temple half as old as Time.

~Samuel Rogers

Vast and deep the mountain shadows grew.
