Not everyone can be as successful a performer as myself, who gave 10 great performances the first time I ever did comedy, and then toiled in obscurity for years.

~Scott Aukerman

The podcast was kind of an afterthought, because I was just excited about being on the radio. Then I found that the podcast listenership is some 20 times what people are listening to on the radio.

Things go away and projects crumble and disappear, or you make your movie and it comes out and no one watches it.

~Scott Aukerman

That's one of the benefits of working with a smaller network like IFC. You're awarded more trust, but trust that I really earned.

~Scott Aukerman

I guess when I was a kid I wasn't the type of person playing a lot of pranks. I was the type of person upon whom pranks were pulled.

~Scott Aukerman

I love all of our subpodcasts.

~Scott Aukerman

Your average comedian doesn't know the podcast universe, really.

~Scott Aukerman

The best sketch shows are from a group of tight-knit people who've worked together for a really long time.

~Scott Aukerman

I get inspired when I look at Tom Lennon, who did Reno 911! for six seasons while writing huge movies and directing, and also doing other pilots; he did that FX pilot, the Star Trek thing.

~Scott Aukerman

Thank you for listening to Comedy Bang Bang! My name is Scott Aukerman and I will see you next week.

~Scott Aukerman

I find I've always been judgmental about comedy (laughs) and it's hard to turn that off, really. But what constant exposure to live comedy does is it makes you give people a second chance.

~Scott Aukerman

It's really difficult to make things, and a lot of times you don't know you're at the end of something.

~Scott Aukerman

Of course you can only write comedy when you're smoking weed.

~Scott Aukerman

A lot of good things can come from not expecting anything.

~Scott Aukerman

I always tried to do cool things.

~Scott Aukerman

I always viewed [the podcast and the TV show] as two separate things.

~Scott Aukerman

It's so hard to figure out how to end a TV show.

~Scott Aukerman

Endings of television shows are sometimes such depressing things. It's like you're not going to hang out with these people anymore, and that's bad enough.

~Scott Aukerman

I think shows that have more of a narrative and are about what's going to happen next, those need to wrap up as a complete story. But it's weird when a goofy comedy show needs to end.

~Scott Aukerman

The key to being a singer - try to do it audibly.
