Pro Publica distorts the relationship between organizations and their consultants.

~Scott Raab

As a viewer I came of age during a time when cast members were prone to fistfights. So I may be carrying a little of that kind of image in my head.

~Scott Raab

When you've got kids, it's a big undertaking. It's like doing four movies in a row.

~Scott Raab

I said [to my mom], "I want to go to the parachute regiment." She said, "Whew, that's tough. But okay, I understand."

~Scott Raab

For each show, we do maybe 15 versions before it goes on air. So I know every show microscopically.

~Scott Raab

The Clash, in particular, transcends any category.

~Scott Raab

When you do something bad and you know you can do it, only you know you can do it. And do it while it's hot, man.

~Scott Raab

My dad is a little Scottish guy with tattoos all over his arms.

~Scott Raab

In the British military system, there is a very strict chain of command. Americans just want to win, and the correct strategy may be to speak directly to the men.

~Scott Raab

I was a section commander in the parachute regiment [in the British army].

~Scott Raab

I'm consciously working very hard at not eating.

~Scott Raab

I think there's a core of real anger or misery inside every true stand-up comic.

~Scott Raab

Somebody'll be me, tomorrow or whenever. I've been doing this awhile. My time's limited. I've been doing this awhile.

~Scott Raab

A movie is a miracle, even if it turns out to be a disappointment.

~Scott Raab

The comics I've talked to have varied styles as stand-ups, but the throughline is that it's the most intense thing they've ever done.

~Scott Raab

Why would you go anyplace without your iPad? This is the greatest invention. When it gets a little more power, my God. It's like my office.
