Being well-dressed gives a feeling of inward tranquility which psychoanalysis is powerless to bestow.

~Sebastian Horsley

Unhappiness lies in that gap between our talents and our expectations.

~Sebastian Horsley

A woman is supposed to have curves like an old Bentley, not like some old bike.

~Sebastian Horsley

Self-pity is the most destructive of all narcotics.

~Sebastian Horsley

I am not an intellectual. An intellectual is someone who looks at a sausage and thinks of Picasso, whereas I just say 'pass the mustard'.

~Sebastian Horsley

People either hate me or dislike me - but I realized that people aren't against you, they are for themselves. We're all prejudiced in favor of ourselves.

~Sebastian Horsley

The problem I've got is that I really, really like drugs. I love everything about them. It is horrific being sober all the time-utterly awful.

~Sebastian Horsley

One of the many troubles of growing older is that it gets progressively harder to find a famous historical figure who hadn't yet amounted to anything by the time he was your age.

~Sebastian Horsley

People are obsessed by happiness, but there are a lot of other invigorating experiences available.

~Sebastian Horsley

But really death seems the least awful thing that can happen to someone

~Sebastian Horsley

To be worthy of assassination takes more than some crappy little book.

~Sebastian Horsley

Getting old is horrible, but it is interesting . . . one of the things I've realized is that growing old is compulsory, but growing up is optional.

~Sebastian Horsley

I am half-Byronic, half-moronic; part-shaman, part-showman; half-Nazi, half-Liberace.

~Sebastian Horsley

I am desperate for attention. But everyone else is too. Everyone has fantasies of fame and greatness. Life for most people is a process of shedding those fantasies.

~Sebastian Horsley

We build our character as a carapace to keep away the fear of the abyss. That's what our character is for.

~Sebastian Horsley

I might be old, but I'm still desirable.

~Sebastian Horsley

The motivation of all artists is 'Look at me, Mum'.

~Sebastian Horsley

I can count all the lovers I've had on one hand...if I'm holding a calculator.

~Sebastian Horsley

[â€¦] life is just the misery left between abortion and euthanasia [â€¦]

~Sebastian Horsley

I have wanted only one thing to make me happy. That thing is everything.

~Sebastian Horsley

I like fat girls. A woman can never be too poor or too fat. I'd take a poor fat girl over a rich thin girl like Kate Moss.

~Sebastian Horsley

I don't think I'm known for my gifts - I'm known for my gall. I don't want to be just a famous person - I'm too old.

~Sebastian Horsley

It's really interesting because 50 years ago, if you didn't wear a hat everyone looked at you. It just proves that everything is fashion.

~Sebastian Horsley

If I hear that people are litigious, I immediately dismiss them.

~Sebastian Horsley

My one concession to American sensibilities was to remove my nail polish.

~Sebastian Horsley

The function of music is to release us from the boredom of existence.
