Elvis is bound to be dead. Look at all the vultures in his vicinity.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Maybe staying single meant that you never had to grow up.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Cities are judged by their richest inhabitants and rural areas are judged

~Sharyn McCrumb

It couldn't be the beer. Donnie McRory was certain of that. If you sent American beer out to be analyzed, the lab would probably phone up and say, 'Your horse has diabetes.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Trying to act normal is the most unnatural behavior of all.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Boondocks' is simply the Tagalog word for mountains.

~Sharyn McCrumb

High school and equality are forever incompatible.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Nobody has time to write a book. Some people just do it anyhow.

~Sharyn McCrumb

All babies are incoherent, but they grow up. That is the principle difference between an infant and a poet.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Domestic rabbits don't have the sense that God promised animal crackers.

~Sharyn McCrumb

anger is more productive than fear.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Some people are born to fit the times.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Life seems to be a choice between two wrong answers.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Half magic is no magic at all.

~Sharyn McCrumb

Machines seem to sense that I am afraid of them. It makes them hostile.

~Sharyn McCrumb

I wonder which is worse-the death, not knowing what comes after, or the wedding, when you think you know, but you're wrong.

~Sharyn McCrumb

SHADOW KNIGHT'S MATE is a compelling story, extremely well-written and alarmingly plausible. Jay Brandon does for politics what Dan Brown did for religion.
