If you want to enter into a state of pure connection with your child, you can achieve this by setting aside any sense of superiority.

~Shefali Tsabary

[I'm a conscious parent when I] believe that my child is here to teach me as much about myself and how I need to grow, as I am here to teach them.

~Shefali Tsabary

There is no universal template that can be applied to everybody. So everyone kind of enter the process in their own way, on their own time.

~Shefali Tsabary

Life doesn't happen to us, but happens with us.

~Shefali Tsabary

The more you focus on connection the more free you are on one hand and the more free you can be because the child does feel authentically connected to their destiny.

~Shefali Tsabary

The Children's Justice Campaign reminds us of our sacred obligation as adults to raise ourselves into consciousness so that our children may thrive.

~Shefali Tsabary

[I'm a conscious parent] when I stay away from fear-based control tactics - punishment, yelling and threats and I'm seeking more enlightened ways to create boundries with my child.

~Shefali Tsabary

The pressure we put on ourselves to produce this perfect... operatic... version of ourselves really puts an inordinate amount of stress and tension on us.

~Shefali Tsabary

[I'm a conscious parent when I] believe that my child matters more than their relationship to academics or success.

~Shefali Tsabary

I'm a conscious parent when I believe... a parent's presence in their child's life is of paramount value and provides the foundation for their sense of worth.

~Shefali Tsabary

We can teach children about natural consequences and cause and effect of their relationships which is really a mirror of what happens in nature.

~Shefali Tsabary

The child is free to live out their own destiny.

~Shefali Tsabary

I think we're seeing that the way we've done parenting cannot be sustainable in this generation, for sure.

~Shefali Tsabary

Freedom to really prioritize and really zone into what really matters which is the parent-child connection.
