The single most important thing you can do in business is to be yourself.

~Sherry Lansing

If you don't wake up with something in your stomach every day that makes you think, "I want to make this movie," it'll never get made.

~Sherry Lansing

My advice to everybody - never give up and have great resiliency. Don't take the rejection personally, but listen if it's intelligent and make changes if they're needed and then move forward.

~Sherry Lansing

Listen, be respectful of others' opinions, be willing to change your mind - and then ultimately you have to make the decision. Decisiveness is very important.

~Sherry Lansing

There's a Harvard Business School thing that says, 'Every 10 years you should replant yourself,' and the only way to keep young is to learn new things and keep curious.

~Sherry Lansing

When you rule in a culture of fear, you're not getting the best out of people.

~Sherry Lansing

I felt, if I never did anything in my life but read scripts and synopses, I would be happy.

~Sherry Lansing

My mother, because of her life, had almost a contradictory way of viewing life. She had this great zest and joy for life and I think that I have that. The glass is always half full for me.

~Sherry Lansing

To me, education is the way out of poverty. And it is the only way.
