I had my electricity turned off three times because I never had time to pay my bills. It was a joke. I'm making a ton of money, and I'm walking around my apartment with flashlights.

~Sherry Stringfield

I'm a terrible patient, and I find that doctors can be very condescending.

~Sherry Stringfield

Only the patients have to take off their clothes. I think I'm pretty safe.

~Sherry Stringfield

It took a long time to get out of my contract. The producers thought I was negotiating for more money.

~Sherry Stringfield

There's only so much you can do with an attorney on a show that's about New York policemen.

~Sherry Stringfield

It took the producers a while to realize I wanted a full-bodied life. I wanted to get out before I felt I'd sacrificed so much to get somewhere that I couldn't afford to leave.

~Sherry Stringfield

I played the best role I've ever seen on TV or film in the last five years. It was hugely gratifying.

~Sherry Stringfield

Why does anybody want to be famous? You know what's important to me? Having lunch! Pasta! Seeing my friends! Is that so crazy?

~Sherry Stringfield

I don't get rattled about the big things. I get rattled when I have to pick up my laundry, get gas in the car, pick up a script.

~Sherry Stringfield

It's amazing how everyone has an opinion on how you should live your life.

~Sherry Stringfield

I'm incredibly happy to be doing my own thing in New York.

~Sherry Stringfield

You can't mess up. If you do, everyone wants to kill you.

~Sherry Stringfield

Series television is either a nightmare or the best thing in the whole world. It really depends on, I think, where you are in your life.

~Sherry Stringfield

Physics has the cutest words.

~Sherry Stringfield

People can get certain good things out of fame, but until it killed a princess nobody ever talked about how bad it can be.

~Sherry Stringfield

I love going to the set every day, because Noah Wylie will be there waiting.

~Sherry Stringfield

I love having no sense of tomorrow or yesterday.

~Sherry Stringfield

I'm from the theater. I never wanted to be a star.
