Giving is an essential for spiritual unfoldment, for until we give and give abundantly, we don't really realize that we are not the giver; we are just a channel for giving.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

Selfless service to mankind makes you free in the world of mortals.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

Things that you cannot face in yourself you will hate when you see them in someone else.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

Be equal to whatever you meet! That is a better way to react to life. It is accomplished simply by meeting everything in understanding, by demanding understanding from within yourself.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

This physical world, though necessary to our evolution, is the embodiment of impermanence, of constant change. Thus, we take care not to become overly attached to it.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

It is the interplay between our experience and how we respond to it that makes karma devastating or helpfully invigorating.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

Conceit is a sure sign of insecurity; humility denotes awareness.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

Listen for silence in noisy places; feel at peace in the midst of disturbance; awaken joy when there is no reason.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

Self Realization is finding That which is beyond even superconsciousness itself, beyond the mind-timeless, causeless, spaceless.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

The object in being on the spiritual path is not to have just a little influx of energy, but to be the energy itself - consciously.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

Spiritual destiny is manifested in the lives of those who stand out from the masses and actually do something, who live a creative life for the benefit of others.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

The purified, integrated mind, so perfected in its own understanding, lives in close communion with the soul radiance so that light becomes the constant companion of the mind.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

You don't discipline yourself to attain the feeling of love. You attain the feeling of love and then you want to discipline yourself because you love the discipline, because it brings more love.

~Sivaya Subramuniaswami

The mind is vast in its combinations of time, space and form. It contains every vibration from subtle to gross.
