There's something so great about this,â€• she whispers. About what?â€• I whisper back. About this,â€• she whispers. About being outlaws. It's just you and meâ€”against the world.

~Sonya Sones

When we kiss, his lips on mine are like CPR-- breathing the life back into me.

~Sonya Sones

Walking with Murphy through the bone-freezing chill toward the bus stop, I start shivering. And somehow, when he slips his arm around me to warm me up, it feels right. Righter than anything ever has.

~Sonya Sones

The only thing worse than not getting what you want, is getting it.

~Sonya Sones

She flashes me a smile so devastating that it could even make an atheist believe in God.

~Sonya Sones

But most days, I wander around feeling invisible. Like I'm a speck of dust floating in the air that can only be seen when a shaft of light hits it.

~Sonya Sones

My parents are great listeners Which is why I never tell them anything

~Sonya Sones

The golden moment when I'm not yet awake enough to remember that there are things I would rather forget.

~Sonya Sones

You're thinking I'm a hopelessly romantic idiot. And you know what? You're right.

~Sonya Sones

Culture Clash Dylan says when I meet his mother today I shouldn't mention that I'm Jewish. I say okay, but can I tell her about the HIV positive thing? He gives me a look. I give him one back

~Sonya Sones

Friends don't let friends commit social suicide.

~Sonya Sones

Sometimes I just know things.

~Sonya Sones

Human beings tend to be conservative, so if you lie, you'll probably be closer to the truth.

~Sonya Sones

What my mother doesn't know won't hurt her

~Sonya Sones
