I find the subject of childhood fascinating. I explored this subject in Speak to me of love and I am curious about portraying the often painful transition into the adult world.

~Sophie Marceau

Acting is wonderful therapy for people. Instead of suffering for yourself, someone will do it for you.

~Sophie Marceau

I think it's almost easier to make people cry than to make people laugh

~Sophie Marceau

It is something actresses need to go through and I think they look forward to being naked in a movie. I don't know why, but it is something you need to exhaust from yourself

~Sophie Marceau

There's no point living, if you can't feel alive.

~Sophie Marceau

I felt sometimes too responsible as an actor because people promote violence or weird things that I don't want to be part of.

~Sophie Marceau

Oh, I'm not English, I cannot talk on behalf of an English person. I'm French. I can say about French. They are quite emotional, though, and they talk about their emotions

~Sophie Marceau

To be honest I don't really know because I really didn't care when I was writing about mixing up reality with what was not reality.

~Sophie Marceau

You wouldn't kill me. You'd miss me.

~Sophie Marceau

Mel Gibson would not be a good James Bond

~Sophie Marceau

Acting is contained - you act for three months, then leave it - but writing is the act of creation. Writing is dangerous.

~Sophie Marceau

What I am interested in is the present time

~Sophie Marceau

Well it is sometimes difficult to act in another language

~Sophie Marceau

So, sometimes, when I'm not happy with my performance and I have to think, I will think in English

~Sophie Marceau

When you direct your first film, you always start by telling stories that you are familiar with

~Sophie Marceau

Sometimes you choose the wrong actor, he could be the best actor ever, but hes not cast in the right part then it doesnt work.

~Sophie Marceau

Even if I think in English, it's more a language of acting than French.
