A hundred percent of marriages end in divorce, disappearance or death.

~Steve Aylett

A sniper is like a genius - it's not enough to be one, you have to be one at something.

~Steve Aylett

One thing you'll say for skeletons, they'll always give you a smile.

~Steve Aylett

The optimist sees the future as a rabbit sees the oncoming truck - getting bigger, not closer.

~Steve Aylett

In America, fundamentalist Christians believe the world was created 6,000 years ago - in England people drink in bars that are older than that.

~Steve Aylett

Biting enemies seems to be acceptable in a surprisingly narrow range of circumstances, or so a ninja shouted at me once

~Steve Aylett

He has been positively growing tusks trying to create a breed of human insect which will continue to live on this accursed planet. Everyone needs a goal.

~Steve Aylett

We have truth in order not to die of art.

~Steve Aylett

Dreams always end before you kill the last person.

~Steve Aylett

Fractal litigation, whereby the flapping of a butterfly's wings on one side of the world resulted in a massive compensation claim on the other.

~Steve Aylett

Sanity's a virginity of the mind

~Steve Aylett

Honesty is the voice that is acceptable in every matter.

~Steve Aylett

The great thing about being ignored is that you can speak the truth with impunity.

~Steve Aylett

The most amusing thing about a pantomime horse is the necessity of having to shoot it twice.

~Steve Aylett

Originality irritates so obscurely that people may have to evolve to scratch it.

~Steve Aylett

Gun stripping is the tea ceremony of America.

~Steve Aylett

In books there's nothing of the fish covered in the coldness of the sea, or the feeling of a star touching space. Bad for business.

~Steve Aylett

Ideas are self-replenishing, like snot

~Steve Aylett

Most books are so well written they barely have any effect on the reader's senses

~Steve Aylett

What happens when the hitcher and the driver are equally murderous?

~Steve Aylett

I knew books could see people around them, they ground their tiny teeth, tried to rattle like windows, stories to tell.

~Steve Aylett

Hang up the phone on a vampire, the definition of carefree.

~Steve Aylett

How many times does a man have to shave before his chin gets the message?

~Steve Aylett

One golfer a year is hit by lightning. This may be the only evidence we have of God's existence.

~Steve Aylett

The best way of getting into something is to think of it as mischief.

~Steve Aylett

From space this Earth is incandescent with abominations - the gods write their signature in our entrails

~Steve Aylett

The law is where reality goes to die.

~Steve Aylett

A society will manufacture an image of progress and locate it in the direction it wishes to take us.

~Steve Aylett

An office is a machine for dying.

~Steve Aylett

Let us forget the past - this is the only way to be genuinely surprised.

~Steve Aylett

Since childhood I'd been suspected of imagination

~Steve Aylett

Stab me if you can enjoy it - but not if it feels like a duty. Stab me vertically if I'm lying down and horizontally if I'm running

~Steve Aylett

A key and a strangler - this is all a simple tale requires.
