Common sense is that which tells us the world is flat.

~Stuart Chase

For those who believe, no proof is necessary. For those who don't believe, no proof is possible.

~Stuart Chase

Sanely applied advertising could remake the world.

~Stuart Chase

Common sense tells us that the world is flat, that the sun goes around the earth, that heavy bodies always fall faster than light bodies, that boats made of iron will sink.

~Stuart Chase

Traditional nationalism cannot survive the fissioning of the atom. One world or none.

~Stuart Chase

We live in an ocean of words, but like a fish in water we are often not aware of it.

~Stuart Chase

Common sense is what tells us the earth is flat.

~Stuart Chase

The best mental effort in the game of business is concentrated on the major problem of securing the consumer's dollar before the other fellow gets it.

~Stuart Chase

Your liberty to swing your arms ends where my nose begins.

~Stuart Chase

Democracy, as has been said of Christianity, has never really been tried.

~Stuart Chase

The violation of some laws is a normal part of the behavior of every citizen.

~Stuart Chase

I find it difficult to believe that words have no meaning in themselves, hard as I try. Habits of a lifetime are not lightly thrown aside.
