I believe the world is as we choose to view it. Simple as that. Our happiness is, in the end, up to us, and to no one else.

~Susan Fletcher

We all have our demons to deal with, Little Pigeon. It's when we cherish them - cradle them to our breasts and feed them, day after day-that's when they curdle our souls.

~Susan Fletcher

Imagine it. Use all your strength and imagine it exactly. And it will happen that way.

~Susan Fletcher

People take what they need from the stories they hear. The tale is often wiser than the teller.

~Susan Fletcher

The tale is often wiser than the teller.

~Susan Fletcher

Sometimes we have so much to say, we cannot say it. Sometimes it's best we do not say goodbyes.

~Susan Fletcher

There are moments. You will know them.

~Susan Fletcher

But maybe the best thing I learnt was this: that we cannot know a person's soul and nature until we've sat beside them, and talked.

~Susan Fletcher

Perfection is a moving target

~Susan Fletcher

What if...? A question we ask to hurt ourselves.
